The University and its employees must comply with all provisions of the Arkansas Workers' Compensation Law. Employees are required to receive medical treatment through a workers’ compensation network of providers for all work-related injuries. The network for workers’ compensation is different from the QualChoice network. Employees may be required to pay for medical treatment received outside this network. Emergency treatment is exempt. A list of participating providers is available in the Personnel Office, Student Health Office, and Maintenance/Public Safety Office. Employees shall follow these institutional procedures in case of job-related injuries:

Return-to-Work

In order to properly manage injuries and the recovery process, UAM will implement a Return-to-Work Program. UAM will send a form for completion by the treating provider to help diagnose the injury and provide a treatment plan. This also informs the provider of the University’s intent to provide modified work for a recovering employee. The modified work assignment will be temporary and will not extend beyond the recovery process.

Departments should make every effort to provide modified work intended to facilitate a return to regular work as soon as medically feasible. Failure of employees to report for this transitional/modified work will result in disciplinary action, to include termination.

Any questions regarding a claim should be addressed to the UAM Personnel Office.
